UNIVERSITY

This, the Cap family album of 1946, is respectfully and gratefully dedicated to Dr. Otto Mees, in recognition of his unselfish and invaluable services as the well-loved family head for thirty-three years.

AT LEAST THEY HAD A HORSE AND

Capital's home grounds have really grown since over a century ago, when the school was first started. Why, even a mere handful of years ago, as time flies, our fathers were "borrowing" watermelons from one of the neighboring farms. Then, Cap was really in the country; for jokes, livestock was bought on campus. This was not at all unusual then, but wouldn't you be surprised to see a bewildered cow meandering up center walk nowadays?

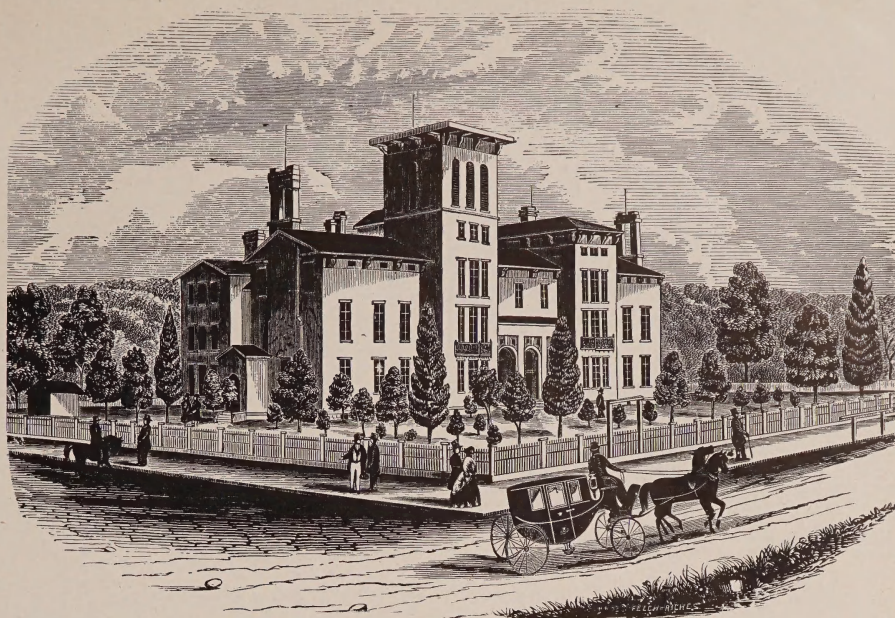

The Cap family then was also very patriarchial; in fact, the idea of women attending the college before 1919 was unheard of. Before then, anything went on (and off) the record—in a brotherly way, of course. Yes, at least they had a horse and buggy.

BUGGY

Goodale Avenue

Athletics were important in campus life back in horse and buggy days, too. That's Prexy sitting up so straight in the front row, and ye editor's father second from left in back.

BUT THEY DIDN'T HAVE A CAMPUS

Mees Hall, college of musical knowledge for the more tuneful brothers and sisters in the Cap family, and has been the center of sounds since 1928. One of the newer buildings on campus, the Conservatory is one of the landmarks to be remembered.

Divinity Hall Chapel, part of the Schenck Divinity Hall unit which includes classrooms and the boys' dormitory, and is the general headquarters of the seminary.

LIKE OURS

This gateway and Center Walk have seen many sons and daughters of the Cap family and if they could speak . . . but we'd rather remember them just as they are—a landmark in the album of Cap college life.

CAMPUS SCENES

Science Hall, one of the most venerable monuments of masonry on the Cap home estate, has a modern feature—the housing shortage for many aspiring scientists, who attend classes and "lab" there regularly.

CAMPUS SCENES

Rudolph Memorial Library holds a special spot in the memories of Cap's younger generation as the place where "cramming" is done. Also, the library is home of the Capital Chimes, clinic and, to boot, is the source of art work done by some of our aesthetically-minded kin.

Recitation Hall, the building of a thousand stairs, is imposed on by class-goers during the day, and by would be Victory Bell-ringers by night. Names and legends of present and bygone Cap family members can be seen inscribed and graven for the ages on the chairs, too—truly a time-honored practice, here as elsewhere.

CAMPUS SCENES

Lehman Hall, successively used by Cap brothers and then by the Air Corps, now is the home of many under-class women, the Dorm Store, the Student Union, and even finds space for a few classrooms, not to mention the offices of the administration. The radical change from the traditional to femininity bothered many—but the progressives don't mind at all!

BIG ELM

"I'll meet you under the Big Elm!" (Familiar, isn't it?) This, the great "family tree" of Capital University is now witnessing the second generation of Cap descendants — that's something special in family annals!

CHRIST CHURCH

Christ Church, spiritual home of Cap students, is located just across the street from the campus. Here of a Sunday morning, Capsters come for inspiration, while on Sunday evenings, you may find the younger generation present for inspiration and fellowship a la Luther League.

The Reverend Otto Ebert, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church.

The Chantry Dec 4

ADMINISTRATION

Such a large family as that of Alma Mater Capital has innumerable interests and diversified affairs which have been ably discharged by our administration. To these "uncles and aunts" of the family tree go the appreciative thanks of their younger relatives, for through their efforts in a great part the younger generation is learning to take its place in family and civic affairs, and to accept responsibility as potential family heads.

Dr. OTTO MEES, President of Capital University

The patriarch and head of the Capital clan has shown us by his fine example of Christian living and faith that we, the youngsters of the family, can also meet life with true courage and determination. We are thankful that we have been privileged to follow under his able direction and guidance.

CAMPUS TROUBLE-SHOOTERS

CLINIC

To the ache and complaint department belong these finger-bandagers and throat-swabbers, our school nurse and doctor, who are indispensable during those inevitable measles and flu epidemics which strike at our family so often.

Campus Doctor

MISS HEIDMANN,
Campus Nurse

POP

Out of the night comes "Pop" Peters, the night watchman who tends to the safety of the Cap flock all through the wee, sma' hours. He's quite familiar to all of us—especially the night owls!

CAMPUS CREW

We give you the vitamins and outdoor boys—our hardy brothers who keep the leaves raked, snow shoveled, flowerbeds hoed, hedges clipped, and defunct elms chopped down . . . nothing less than the Saturday slaves, the Campus Crew!

CLASSES

Offshoots of the younger generation are the classes. Their self-chosen big brothers and sisters have steered them through the events of the past year to a safe ending. Too, with the individual co-operation of the members and their advisers, many things have been accomplished which would have otherwise been impossible. The Cap family album proudly devotes the following pages for the portraits of its children.

NOTE: Students are classified according to first semester status with the exception of those graduating seniors who entered college at mid-year.

Of all the classes in Cap's curricula zoology is undoubtedly the one remembered by the largest percentage of students—both those who took the course and those who had classes within a half mile radius of the zo lab.

SENIORS

Many things have happened since we were "green-horns." How about those golden days of games, loafing, parties and freshman initiation as it used to be?—Too perfect to put down in a family album, but we'll always remember them for what they were. . . .

Cap's family album came in for its bit of glory when world-famous "Captain Eddie" Rickenbacker penned his greetings to the Capitalian last summer.

And speaking about glamour—how about this choice snapshot of movie actress Peggy Ryan, who also sends greetings to the Cap family?

JUNIOR CLASS

We were adopted into the Cap family fold when the predominating color on campus was khaki, and we lost quite a fistful of presidents to the draft before one finished out the year. (He was drafted later.) Our gift to the Cap album of memories is the May Queen, plus accounts of "baching it" in the bygone boarding clubs and in Troutman dining hall, not to mention numerous escapades—academic and otherwise.

VETERANS' ASSOCIATION

In January 1946 the Veterans' Association of Capital University was organized on our campus for the purpose of helping ex-service men and women effect an easy return to school life.

Its program is four-sided and embraces the following principles: to obtain for the veteran student all the benefits to which he is entitled, to assist the Dean of Men in orienting new veterans to the campus, to aid veterans in successfully completing academic work, and to keep informed on business and social trends by having speakers address the group on timely subjects.

The organization chose as officers Edward McClure, president; Arnold Grueber, vice-president; John Wagner, treasurer; Betty Warman, corresponding secretary; and Margaret Schoenstra, recording secretary. Dr. Robert Geist acted as advisor to the group.

This association now publishes an information sheet which bears news of interest to veterans, and has established a veterans' information bureau which functions with the office of the Dean of Men.

ACTIVITIES

Besides the customary routine of class-going and coming, the typical child of Mother Capital finds a variety of interesting time-eaters to claim his attention in leisure hours. Most of the Cap children have discovered that family life comes to mean so much to them if they take advantage of every opportunity offered. Here-with are presented the organized pleasures connected with life in the Cap clan.

The activity receiving the most enthusiastic participation from the greatest number of Capsters is naturally (?) studying, but when there are no more lessons to do, some students find time for the activities represented on the following pages.

ORCHESTRA

Following the baton of Professor Wilbur Crist, the Capital University Symphony Orchestra has provided many enjoyable moments for campus and city music lovers in its numerous appearances.

BAND

Also under the direction of Professor Crist is the concert band, which delights audiences with everything from Bach to "The Little Brown Jug".

GIRLS' CHORUS

The vocal harmony division of our music program is here first represented by the Girls' Chorus and Sextet, whose tuneful renditions of modern arrangements consistently win the applause of student and off-campus audiences.

CHAPEL CHOIR

Nationally known for excellency in a capella choral singing, the Chapel Choir carries the Cap spirit far and wide. In this first post war year, a full schedule in and about Columbus and a mid-year tour of Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New York State.

BOARD OF COLLEGE ACTIVITIES

With an even representation of faculty and students, the Board of College Activities meets regularly to determine how much may be spent for all college activities, the amount of the activities fee, etc.

Apart from the field of finance, the board also puts its collective O.K. on organizational pins, certificates, and letters.

CAMPUS COUNCIL

CAMPUS COUNCIL

Campus Council is the organization whose express purpose is encouraging an all-inclusive spirit of genuine cooperation among the members of Cap family. ## DELTA PHI ALPHA

"Stille nacht, heilige nacht . . ." Remember that clear cold night the week before Christmas when we went from house to house singing carols? We got along beautifully on the English versions but when the leader said "auf German" some of us had to hum while our Delta Phi Alpha friends took over with the words. We all had a wonderful time thanks to D.P.A. which sponsors the all-campus carolling each year.

Members of this national German honorary fraternity gain an appreciation of the German language and culture.

Another feature of the group's program is the annual initiation banquet.

KAPPA SIGMA UPSILON

Discontinued during the war years on campus for obvious reasons, Kappa Sigma Upsilon this year has again taken up where it left off three years ago. The members of this fraternity have pitched in with a will, having sponsored an all-campus Christmas formal, not to mention a well-attended hayride at the beginning of the school year. Although the brothers of the Cap relationship have yet to hit their pre-war stride, there's no doubt but what they're not far from it.

Bella Christin Schroeder, vice-president, is not present.

KAPPA SIGMA THETA

Many of the campus affairs—both closed and all-campus—have been sponsored by Kappa Sigma Theta, whose membership is comprised of Caplasses. In conjunction with KSU, KST members have enjoyed evenings of entertainment—and food. KST undertakes to welcome all incoming little sisters by assigning members as big sisters to "show them the ropes" on arrival. Traditionally one of the smoothest functions of the year is the Sweet-heart Formal, which this year was held at the Seneca, the rhythm being under the baton of Don Crawford.

SPANISH CLUB

All students of Spanish at Cap are eligible to membership in the Spanish Club. In its meetings the use of the Spanish language is applied to everyday life conversation, thus combining valuable practical training with social activities.

This year in place of officers an executive committee served the club. It was composed of Ann Friedly, Dorothy Edwards, Bonnie Dozer, and Elsa Rehm, who served as president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer respectively.

Joint meetings with the O. S. U. Spanish Club were held several times throughout the year.

W. A. A.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

With men's varsity teams claiming so much of sports spotlight, coed athletics are usually short-changed in recognition. However, the Women's Athletic Association this year has been especially active and should receive well-deserved praise for an extensive program successfully carried out.

The aim of the club is to foster an interest in constructive recreation—both individual and team—laying special emphasis on the social benefits derived from organized play.

In accordance with this aim W.A.A. has sponsored numerous sportdays with other schools throughout the school year. Otterbein, Wittenberg, St. Mary's of the Springs, Cincinnati, and Ohio Wesleyan, were either guests of or hostesses to Cap girls for these days which combined competitive games with social functions.

Intramural sports under W.A.A. leadership consistently afford pleasure and development to all Cap girls who care to participate.

Important date on the W.A.A. agenda this year was March 29 and 30, when the girls were hostesses to the Athletic Federation of Ohio College Women, whose president is our own Esther Brueckner.

They have broadcast half-hour programs each month from WOSU, and have presented entertainment for various college and community groups.

Fall and spring rushings and initiations brought in 22 new members this year. Each year Phi Beta presents a gift to the school and also helps to maintain a cottage at the MacDowell colony.

VARSITY "C"

VARSITY "C"

Varsity "C" after a three year lay-off due to the war snapped back to life this year and has taken its place as one of the most active of campus organizations. Composed of all men earning letters in football, basketball, baseball, tennis, or track, Varsity C strives to maintain high standards of athletics at Cap and in inter-collegiate sports.

Its social functions have been very successful, and it has undertaken to raise campus spirit by returning things to pre-war standards. The Berea Boots and Senior Award will once again be presented the most versatile Junior athlete, and the outstanding Senior athlete, respectively. Such things as the football banquet, a fall dance, and the presentation of football movies to the campus, as well as a spring luncheon at which the new officers are announced constitute its activities outside of its regular business.

PARISH WORKERS

The Parish Workers Club is a comparatively new organization on the campus which has been established to maintain a closer relationship between the girls enrolled in the Parish Workers Curriculum and to help them to better understand the work of the church and their position in it. Under the guidance of Professor Edgar Ebert, this organization has undertaken several projects such as an all-campus clothing drive for European aid and a defense-area canvassing project.

DEBATE - T. K. A.

Proof positive that one can prove almost anything are these verbal experts the members of Cap's debate squad. The subject this year was Resolved: that the United States should direct its policy toward free trade among the nations of the world. The pros and cons flew fast as the teams from Capital participated in invitational debates with nearby colleges and in several tournaments. At a tournament at Kent one of the men's teams from Cap took first place. The Ohio Conference tournament was held on our campus with our women's and men's teams both placing high.

Other features of the debate season have been public debates on questions of vital interest and a trip to Purdue for a discussion tournament.

There is a chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, national forensic fraternity at Capital of which Mary Ellen Shonting, Milton Linhart, Bill Zimpfer, Louis Mackey, Robert Gibson, Harold Zietlow, Howard Wilson, and Donna Kline are student members.

MASQUERS

Mighty Thespian organization on campus is Masquers, which is responsible for all dramatic productions given for the pleasure of Capsters and their many friends. However, along other lines, Masquers is not found wanting, for it sponsored a colorful Christmas party and juke box dance at the Jeffrey House. Under the prexyship of brother Bill Nies, Masquers has really made headlines this year!

Foremost burners of the midnight oil on the Cap home grounds are those members who give their services to Chimes, the campus newspaper. Under the editorship of Reggie Holle and the managership of Paul Steingruber, and with the co-operation of the editors and staff, the journalistic grapevine has really produced some tasty fruit this year. Yes, one can track down the doings of all one's distant relatives in the Chimes, thanks to the library tower's occupants!

CAPITALIAN

We, the official chroniclers of Cap's family album, have had fun compiling this volume of memories. It's been three years since the last yearbook was published, and even this year we have been beset with the usual run of difficulties, including the fact that our faculty adviser left the family fold last fall. Nevertheless, we trust that you will enjoy your Capitalian, now and in the future, as a bit of the essence of the Cap spirit.

Bottom: Carl Beyer and Doris Alt, the photography appointment duo.

The yearbook staff wishes to thank Eleanor Kopelman, Mary Louise Mays, and Dorothy Dollinger, who also worked on this Capitalian, and all others who helped us at different times throughout the year.

SPORTS

Looking into the mirror of the past, we view scenes which long will be remembered by Cap sports fans—fans tearing out their lungs if the game was close or if Cap was trailing. However, when the Lutherans were sailing to an easy victory it seemed as though everyone sat back and breathed a sigh of relief. Knowing that the memory has a strange tendency to forget the past, we arrange the athletics section as a mirror to keep reflections of past scenes with you until golf becomes an old man's sport at Capital.

FOOTBALL

... The view in the mirror is changing and this time we see a crowded football stadium, with the tense spectators holding their breath as the referees unscramble the players on the opponents' goal line. It's a touchdown!! These words bring the crowd to its feet and New Year's Eve is here once again! Wait a minute! How did this get by the activities ticket collector? It looks like a contingent of Chocolate soldiers from "Bitter Sweet". Looking closer we can see that it is our football players battling against a sea of mud in the Homecoming game against Wittenberg. Now the mirror clouds as football ends in a splash of liquid dirt.

COME ON KLOPFER!

The Fighting Lutherans saw its football team through another thrilling, and heart cheering season. Composed of new faltering freshmen and salty veterans, the squad rolled over their opponents' goal line for 5 wins and 1 loss. Since football was resumed in 1944, Bernlohr's grid stars have won 8 games and dropped 4. Keltner and P. Klopfer were chosen for the All-Conference first team, while Nies and Derry received honorable mention. Capital University's football team, as a whole, took second place in the Ohio Conference. Long to be remembered will be Klopfer's smashing drives, Sutton's driving runs, Keltner's smooth conversions and the hard playing of the rest of the fellows on the team.

Did you see that hidden ball trick which Cap just successfully pulled? You didn't? Perhaps you weren't watching that first baseman closely enough.

BASKETBALL

Peering hard into this mirror we see that again time has slipped by and that the basketball season is well under way so well under way, in fact, that Cap is playing its second game against Otterbein. Noticing the scoreboard through our mirror of the past we get dizzy trying to figure out who is winning. Cap leads; no, Otterbein is out in front wrong again, Bernlohr's Brigade is leading. Bang! The final gun sounds and Cap wins, settling an old score with a new score against an old rival. The fans go berserk, the band shrieks, Otterbein rooters glumly go home and the victory bell once again peals out its joyful tones to slumbering city folk.

During the past two seasons the Cap basketball team has won 28 contests in 33 encounters. This season's totals: 13 wins, 3 losses. Individual honors go to Russ Lynch, Cap's high point man, who was chosen for the All-Conference second team. # FEATURES

Just what makes life click at Capital? And what are the scenes of fondest memories in the Cap child's busy brain? Where does one go, and what does one do, and what is there to be seen on the Cap home grounds? These questions will be graphically answered on the following pages—a small cross-section of life and scenes so vital in the ordinary Cap student's daily life. Somewhere, too, you may be able to catch a bit of the intangible "Cap spirit" without which this group could not have been welded into such a clannish relationship.
